

SPRING CLEANING

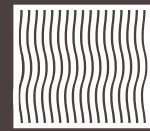

for Your Air Conditioner

As you deep-clean your home this spring, don't forget to maintain your air conditioner for optimum comfort and indoor air quality. Here is your spring cleaning checklist for your AC system.

Add Whole-Home Ventilation

Adding a ventilation system to your HVAC system is a great way to bring fresh air into your home without driving up cooling costs.

Check Air Filters Once a Month

Clean air filters are especially important during allergy season. Change an air filter as soon as it begins to accumulate dust or dirt.

Schedule Air Conditioner Maintenance

Have a professional clean and tune-up your AC system inside and out to increase efficiency and prevent breakdowns.

Replace Your AC Unit If Needed

Time for a new AC unit? Upgrade to an efficient unit for better energy savings, humidity control, and indoor air quality.

Keep Your AC Unit Free of Debris

Cleaning your gutters? Don't forget to keep your outside air conditioning unit free of leaves and debris as well.
